MAYOR HOLDS AN DEATH COMES TO AGED MAN David Colville Expires at Home of W. C. Culbertson.

C. L. Bebout Brings Before Him Men Who Have Made Assertions Law is Not Being Enforced.

KNOW NOTHING AS USUAL

He Says Others Will be Held if he Hears Similar Rumors-Examination private.

Mayor Bebout conducted a court of inquiry this afternoon and others will follow if the word reaches the mayor that anyone knows of liquor law and other violations. It has been rumored that several men knew of liquor law violations and the rumors even went so far as to state that these men had made the assertions that the present administration was not trying to enforce the law and that the attitude of the police and the mayor was all a bluff.

If anyone thinks Mayor Bebout is bluffing he will have a chance to tell the mayor all he knows regarding illegal sales of liquor or any other law violations. The men before Mayor Bebout this afternoon were J. Milt Stiers, Albert Robertson, Jesse Retherford and Alvan Moor.

The word came to the city officials that these men had made certain statements regarding law violations and had intimated that the administration was not trying to stop the illegal sale of liquor. It was reported that the conversation took place at the Lon Havens grocery.

When brought before Mayor Be actual violations of the law and it any foundation for their statements. May, is very likely to prevail.

The court of inquiry was conducted by Mayor Bebout, Prosecutor lected at the spring installment this Smith and Chief Rosencrance at the council chamber. The session was private and no reporters were al- greater than last year because the lowed to attend. Bebout after the inquiry was over, "that there will be several more inquiries if I hear that anyone knows of any violations. If the people know of law breaking here in Rushville, I want them to come and tell me and not go around the city 'knocking' the administration and saving we are not doing our duty. The officers can't do their duty if they do not know of the violations and if these people that do all the talking want to talk let them come to me."

Prosecutor Smith is of the same opinion as the mayor and intimated yesterday when the inquiry was Irst talked of that he might have some of the men up before the grand jury.

In half of the townships last year the tax rate was under two dollars. "You can say for me," said Mayor This year the rate of every township is over the two dollar mark. This accounts for the increased amount of taxes on the books.

> Last year the flood was blamed for the delay in the payment of taxes, but this year there was no flood to keep farmers from coming to Rushville and the amount to be collected at this time is greater than the sum to be collected during the same period last year.

The collections thus far this year have been as follows: January, $2,442.62; February, $43,978.01 March, $18,287.13, or a total of $64.707.76. This deducted from the total estimated amount to be collected during the present installment leaves $235.392.24, he amount yet on the books.

RUSSIAN ARMY TERROR STRICKEN

Spy System and Abuse Work Havoc In the Ranks.

SOLDIERS' SPIRIT BROKEN.

Startling Indictment In a London Publication Devoted to Russian Affairs. Insanity, Suicide and Assault of More Frequent Occurrence Than In Any Other Country.

The conditions of service in the Russian army are unbearable, according to the correspondent of a London periodical that treats exclusively of Russian affairs. This correspondent declares that the spy system and utter lack of consideration for enlisted men by the officers, and their brutality in dealing with civilians have crippled Russia's fighting force and reduced to a low ebb the spirit of the army. The article says:

"All military writers agree that at least half the strength of any army depends upon the spirit prevailing in its ranks. If they are to fight well and successfully the men must be united by comradeship, have faith in their officers and feel that they are risking their lives for something worth tighting for.

"Looking at the Russian army from this point of view, we cannot but be startled by the facts of every day life among the czar's soldiers. Comradeship is practically made impossible by espionage.

Officers Suffer as Well.

"It must not be imagined that spies confine their attention to privates. The officers are not immune from the same treatment. Until recently political charges made by the secret police against officers of the army had to be inquired into and verified by the ministry of war. But the gendarmerie naturally disliked this procedure, as it often exposed the worthlessness of espionage. The chief of the secret police therefore applied to General Sukhomlinoff, the minister of war, asking that any information about any army officer coming from his agents should be accepted by the military authorities without question. M. Sukhomlinoff fully agreed to this suggestion, gave orders accordingly, and added that the police reports should be kept secret from the officers concerned. Thus every officer is now at the mercy of every turncoat and spy without being given a chance to refute the allegations against him.

"Dueling is encouraged and sometimes forced. An arrogant attitude toward peaceful citizens, especially if they are independent in their political opinions, is interpreted as a laudable manifestation of 'military honor' and loyalty, while heartless, cruel treatment of the rank and file is regarded as 'good discipline.'

Murder In Code of Ethics.

"A writer named Kulchitsky has published a volume entitled 'Advice to Young Officers.' In this book, which deals, among other things, with possible quarrels between officers and civilians, the author says: 'Kill on the spot and with a single blow. A living man may harm you, while a dead one is harmless (i. e., as a witness) in case of a trial.' This book is recommended by commanders to their young officers on leaving a certain military school.

"This encouragement of lawlessness certainly does not strengthen the necessary discipline in the Russian army. While exacting from the private absolute obedience to a superior's order. however idiotic or lawless, and absolute conformity to formal rules which have nothing to do with the military efficiency of the soldier, the bullying officer no longer acknowledges any binding discipline so far as he himself is concerned. Cases of gross and unprovoked assault committed by officers on privates may be cited ad infinitum. From them it may be gathered how cheaply human life and the personality of a soldier are accounted in the Russian army.

"We cannot wonder, therefore, that despair and hatred of their profession and their superiors are rife among the Russian soldiery. There is no other army in the whole world where insanity, suicide and assaults on commanders by privates are so frequent. A committee of doctors at Kiev found that in the local military hospital alone T. H. Reed and Son are quoting there were simultaneously 200 insane privates who had to be discharged from military service. And there is no particular reason why insanity should be more rife at this place than in other districts. According to the report of of privates who took their own lives during that year was 347, and this figure is surely not exhaustive, since many suicides must have been reported under the heading of 'accidenta! deaths."

New Wash-Day Wonder Puts Wash-Board Out of Business

In all your life you never heard of anything like Washee Wafers. It is something new for the washing of clothes. It is a revolution and a revelation. It absolutely puts an end once and for all to the wash-board, to the washing-machine, and to back-breaking rubbing of clothes. We don't mean it will partly do it—we mean it puts an end to all rubbing—every bit of it. You don't even have to get your hands wet, except when you are ready to wring out and rinse the clothes. Put the clothes and a Washee Wafer into the boiler, then sit down and take it easy, and in about half an hour your whole big wash is done, as though you had given each piece the hardest kind of rubbing.

Washee Wafers

Take the "Whole-Day" Out of Wash Day

The wonderful part of it is that Washee how soiled the clothes may have been, Wafers contain no acid, no alkali, no when Washee Wafers are used. Wrong but Right

An editor up in the northeastern part of the state is in bad on account of the writeup of a wedding. The briedgroom was named Gunn, son of Abraham Gunn. The girl's name was Smith. The editor turned in the copy to his office boy the last thing before going to press then harried to the train to be gone two days. When the paper was printed the article was headed "Gunnsmith" and went on to say that the bride was arrayed in a dress of "white mule" instead of white mull and she carried a large "nose" when the copy read "rose." The editor wrote that the groom was the wellliked son of A. Gunn; the boy set it up: "The son is a wall-eyed son of a gun." The editor has never been able to square it with the Gunns and Smith, and all of them quit taking the paper.

Dawn of Peace Among Nations Not Yet at Hand

By Former President WILLIAM H. TAFT

HE war between Italy and Tripoli, the war in China, the war between the Balkan states and Turkey and the subsequent war between the Balkan states themselves, the war in Haiti and finally the war in Mexico are all contemporary and convincing evidence that the DAWN OF UNIVERSAL PEACE is not immediately at hand.

I THINK THAT IT IS OUR DUTY AS A GREAT, STRONG, POWERFUL NATION, WHEN WE CAN DO SO WITHOUT INVOLVING OURSELVES IN COSTLY OR DANGEROUS WAR, TO PROMOTE THE CAUSE OF PEACE AND ORDER IN ANY OF OUR LESS STABLE NEIGHBORS THROUGH TREATY ARRANGEMENTS WITH THEM, AND THIS WHOLLY WITHOUT REGARD TO THE MONROE DOCTRINE.

I don't wish to minimize the importance of general expressions of good will and general declarations of willingness to settle everything without war, but the long list of treaties that mean but little can now hardly be made longer, for they include substantially all the countries of the world. The next step is to include SOMETHING THAT wore a fancy vest on a given day. REALLY BINDS SOMEBODY to something in a treaty for future arbitration.

In the former we imported 112,000 cattle; in the latter 341,-000. In the former we brought in 253,000 bushels of corn; in the latter 4,450,000 bushels. In the former we brought in 13,600 bushels of oats; in the latter 13,230,000 bushels; in 1912 about 39,000,000 pounds of rice, rice flour and rice meal; in 1913 64,500,000 pounds. In the last three months of 1912 we brought in 865,000 pounds of fresh meat. In the last three months of 1913 we brought in 33,-500,000 pounds. In the last three months of 1912 we brought in not quite 41,000 bushels of potatoes. In the last three months of 1913 we brought in 2,880,000 bushels.

THERE ARE MARKED INCREASES IN OTHER DIRECTIONS, AS, FOR EXAMPLE. IN PRINT PAPER AND OTHER ITEMS, BUT THE MAJOR FACT IS THAT OF THE INCREASE OF FOODS. THIS CAN ONLY BE A MATTER OF CONGRATULATION. THE FARMERS OF AMERICA HAVE NOTHING TO FEAR. THEIR EFFICIENCY IS SUCH ALREADY THAT THEY CULTIVATE TWENTY-SEVEN ACRES OF LAND WITH THE SAME FORCE THAT IS REQUIRED ABROAD FOR FROM FIVE TO SEVEN ACRES. ONE MAY CONFIDE WITH ENTIRE CONFIDENCE IN THE ABILITY OF OUR AGRICULTURAL COMMUNITY TO PRODUCE ITS CROPS AT A COST WHICH WILL MAKE PRICES REMUNERATIVE.

"Madam," he said, "I came to you to see you about a matter that is very near to me. You have been teaching that the world is round."

"Yes," replied the instructor, "and I have been offering the proof."

"I know," said he, "but that is not what I came to see you about. It is all very good what you say, but, madam. I have always been taught that it is flat. I want to know if you would feel bad if I continued to think it flat?"

"Oh," replied the teacher, "it is not a matter of how I feel, but a matter of evidence. I demonstrate that it is round; I offer the proof; if you accept the evidence you think ft round; if you reject it you think it flat."

Our intelligent friend was still unmoved, still more concerned about the object of his visit. "I understand," he said, "that all you say, madam, is good and reasonable. But would you mind if I still thought it flat?"-The Masses.

"The Firefly," Rudolf Friml's new comedy opera in three acts for which Otto Hauerbach has written the libretto, and which is named after the little Italian singing 'girl, who is the heroine of the story, is a merry production, full of sparkling music and happily shifting incident, and, from the standpoint of lyric attractiveness, probably the best opera of its kind for some time.

Arthur Hammerstein, the man behind the production, will present "The Firefly" at the Auditorium in Connersville next Tuesday April 7, with Miss Edith Thayer, that bewitching little prima donna in the star part.

A New York recreation pier, a tropically beautiful estate in Bermuda, and a Fifth Avenue mansion interior, are the back-grounds against which a plot of crossed and and shifting love is developed. Jack Travers, engaged to Geraldine Vandare in act one, discovers himself, as the plot developes, in love with charming little Nina (Miss Thaver,) the street singer, unjustly accused Jack's uncle John Thurston, has in the meantime lost his heart to Geraldine, who loves him in return. Jack is too honorable to break with Geraldine, thinking she loves him Thurston, who thinks she loves Jack suffers in silence, as does Geraldine herself. At last an accident, which proves how mistaken they all were, brings the action to a happy conclusion, with Nina in Jack's arms and Geraldine in Thurston's...

The score is full of songs that are sure "hits". Some of them which linger easily and pleasantly in the memory are: "Call me Uncle," with ade," the charming waltz song-"A Rush county farmer last year. Woman's Smile" and "The Beautiful Sold by Ship from Toyland" in the second Phone 3426.

A Tale of the Vanishing People

By REX BEACH

Copyright by Rex Beach

P from the valley below came the throb of war drums, the faint rattle of shots and the distant cries of painted horsemen charging. From my hard won structed view of the encampment, a great circle of tepees and tents three miles in circumference, cradled in a sag of the timberless hills.

anew their tales of might and repeating in mimicry their greatest battles. Five days the feasting had continued. Five mornings had I been awakened gullies upon the camp, their horses rearing and plunging, their rifles snapping and spitting, while the valley rocked to their battlecries and to the met them. The odors of a savage people had begun to pall on me, the sound of a strange language had begun to annoy me, and I longed for another white man or a word in my own one which had been erected during my absence, and through the flap was thrust the head of my friend, the government doctor.

"Gee, I'm glad to see you!" I said as I shook his hand. "I'm as lonesome as a deaf mute at a song recital." "What's the matter? Won't the Indians talk to you?" "I guess they would if they could, but they can't. Out of these 5,000 Sioux I haven't found one who can understand a word I say, and I've tried some 4,980 of them." The old gentleman laughed.

"Your government schools have gone back in the betting with me, doc. You must keep your graduates under lock and key.'

"They can all speak English if they want to-that is, the younger ones can. Some few of the old people are too proud to try, but the others can talk as well as we can until they for-

"Do you mean to say these aborigines have been fooling me? I don't believe it," said I. "There is one that can't talk English, and I'll make a bet on it." I indicated a passing brave with an eagle feather headdress reaching far down his naked legs. He was a magnificent animal-young. lithe and as tall and straight as a sapling-and was decked from head to feet in his gorgeous panoply. "I've tried him twice, and he simply doesn't understand."

My friend called to the warrior: "Hey, Tom! Come here a minute."

The Indian came, and the doctor con-

"When do you hold the horse races, Thomas?"

"Tomorrow, 4 o'clock, unless it rains," said the fellow. "Are you going to ride?"

"No. My race horse is sick." As the ocher daubed figure vanished into the dusk the old man turned to me, saying: "Yale."

"Yale; B. A. He's a graduate." "Impossible!" I declared. "Why, I could hardly understand him. He talks like a foreigner or as if he was just learning the language."

"Exactly. That halting unfamiliarity with English marks the death and decay of his learning. In three years more he'll be an Indian again through and through. Oh, the reservation is full of fellows like that." The doctor continued, with a sigh: "It's a melancholy acknowledgment to make, but our work seems to count for nearly nothing. It's their blood.

"I've heard a graduating class read theses from a platform, sing cantatas in chorus and deliver orations. Then-I have seen those same young fellows three months later squatting in tepees, grunting in their native tongues and eating with their fingers.

"Some years ago I felt I was well on my way to success, for I found a youth who offered every promise of great manhood. I studied him until I knew his every trait and his every strength. He did not seem to have any weakness. I raised him under my own supervision into a tall, straight fellow as handsome as figured bronze and with a mind far in advance of his people and his years. He had the best blood of the nation in him, being the son of a war chief, and they called him Thomas Running Elk. He was educated at the agency school under me, and he went through his college course like a stag at the head of a great herd, a silent, dignified, shadowy figure, unapproachable and mysterious to his fellow students. In all things he excelled, but he was best megaphone, then waved a cane, whereperhaps in athletics, the credit for which I also took, feeling a godlike satisfaction in my work.

that the great thing entered his life, the thing I had craftily built upon from the start and had well nigh despaired of. The girl entered, but instead of Running Elk being drawn to the woman, as I had planned, the woman went to him.

"You've heard of old Henry Harman? Yes, the railroad king. It was his daughter Alicia.

"In order to understand the story you'll have to know something about old Henry and believe in heredity, as I do. He is a self made man. He came into the middle west as a poor boy and by force of his indomitable pluck, ability and doggedness became a captain of industry. He is the same now as when he was a section boss, and his daughter Alicia is another Henry Harman feminized. "At this my old friend roared so fiercely that I hastened to say: 'I'll see him at once. I have more influence than anybody else with him.'

"'I hope you can show him how impossible, how criminal it is to ruin my girl's life. Yes, and mine too. Suppose the yellow papers got hold of this thing!' Harman shuddered. 'Doc, I love that girl so well I'd kill her with my own hands rather than face her disgrace and see her ridiculed. "'She could marry a duke if one happened to come along, and I'd buy her one, too, if she wanted him, but I won't stand for this dirty, low browed Injun.'

"'He's not dirty,' I declared, 'and he's not as low browed as some degenerate foreigner you'd be glad to pick out for her.'

"'Well, he's an Injun,' retorted Harman, 'an' it'll come out on him. We've both seen 'em tried. They all drop back where they started from. You know that as well as I do.'

"'I don't know it,' said I, thinking of my experiment, which had gone so badly askew, 'but we've got to put a stop to this affair in one way or another. I'll see the young man right

"'Tomorrow is Thanksgiving,' said Henry. 'Wait over and go up with us and see the Yale-Princeton football game. I understand Running Elk plays fullback. We'll pick you up at your hotel in the morning and drive up in the car. It's the big game of the year, and you'll enjoy it. I don't expect to, however.'

"You have seen similar games, so there is no need of my describing this one, even if I could. As it was my first experience it impressed me greatly! When the teams appeared I recognized Running Elk at a distance, as did the hordes of madmen behind us, and I began to understand what the old man in the seat next mine was fancies of this sort.'

I had lost his position for the moment, but I knew that hungry, predatory stride which devoured the fleeting yards as if he were a thing of the wind. He was off with the ball in the hollow of his arm, back into the heart of his enemies, dodging, darting, leaping, twisting, always advancing. They tore his interference from him, and yet he penetrated their ranks like an elusive, quivering beam of light which none of them might lay hands upon. He was running free when tackled, and his assailant launched himself with such savage violence that the sound of their impact came to us distinctly. As he fell I heard Alicia Harman gasp as if some hand had been removed from her throat. And then the crowd gave

"From that time on to the finish of the game my eyes seldom left Runping Elk and then only to shoot quick glances at my companions.

"Although the skill of the young Sioux overtopped that of all the others, the opposing team played as one man, as a wonderful, well oiled piece of machinery, and they scored. All through the first half Yale struggled to retaliate, but at the intermission had not succeeded.

"In the second half of the game the son of a Sioux chief led the men of Eli as Hannibal led his Carthaginian cohorts up to the gates of Rome with the same irresistible progress, showing nificent, and he tied the score.

There is no better proof of Quality than the record of past accomplishments. While many machines have radically changed from year to year the EXCELSIOR AUTOCYCLE has been built along lines originally adopted, with only such modifications in detail as have been the natural results of development and in methods and facilities in manufacture, and has ALWAYS MADE GOOD. There's a reason. It was RIGHT in the beginning and remains the standard of motorcycle excellence. If you do not know the "X" see the 1914 models and be convinced. We will be glad to show you.

Heading the list of improvements, there has always been some one achievement of a revolutionary character which sets the INDIAN on a plane apart from the other makes—the famous Cradle Spring Frame, the Two Speed Gear and Folding Footboard The Twin has the power which fully meets all road conditions. It carries the rider as surely over rough, mountainous trails as over level highways. Its control is perfect.

Deadly Rivals Join Same Racing Camp

JOURNEY OVER A NEW ROUTE

Expedition Will Be the Greatest Ever Attempted - Explorer Expects to Make the South Pole a "Halfway House"--Aims to Open Up a Vast Area Now a Blank on the Map.

Sir Ernest Shackleton, the English explorer, has announced his plans for the biggest polar journey ever attempted. If he is successful his expedition will open up a vast unexplored region now a blank on the map.

The main object of the expedition will be to cross the south polar continent from Weddell sea to Ross sea, a distance roughly of 1.700 miles, making the south pole a "halfway house" on the great journey.

"Except Dr. Bruce's discovery of Coats Land in 1904," said Sir Ernest. "and the results of the Filchner expedition of last year, we know scarcely we did in Weddell's day Expects to Traverse New Route. "With good fortune it is probable that the whole journey will cover new ground-that is to say, after reaching the pole from Weddell sea we may strike out a route to Ross sea which will be neither that which I followed on my previous journey and which Captain Scott took nor the other and shorter one adopted by Captain Amundsen. "From a geographical point of view the complete continental nature of the antarctic can be absolutely solved by such a journey. No one now knows whether the great plateau dips gradually from the pole toward Weddell sea; no one knows whether the great Victoria chain of mountains, which has been traced to the pole, extends across the continent and links up with the Andes. The solution of this problem is naturally of intense interest to geographers all over the world, and the discovery of the great mountain range which we assume to be there will be one of the biggest geographical tri umphs possible."

The cost of the expedition is estimated at $250,000. The equipment will be the best that experience can devise. The transantarctic party will begin the journey with 120 dogs, two sledges driven by aeroplane propellers with aeroplane engines and an aeroplane with clipped wings in order to "taxi over the ice."

CARNEGIE AND ROCKEFELLER ON PEACE AMONG NATIONS.

The foulest blot remaining upon so called civilized man beyoud question is the killing of each other. That he has ceased to eat his fellows after killing them matters nothing to the slain and little to the survivors. It is the killing of each other that stamps man still the savage. That this practice is not soon to pass away from civilized man is unthinkable since history proves that from age to age by a law of his being he has been slowly yet surely developing from the beast; hence we are justified in believing that there is no end to his upward march to perfection.-Andrew Carnegie.

Winning 1911 Car and Winning 1912 Driver Enter Speedway Classic For Decoration Day.

WOULD WIN BACK LAURELS

Chicago Attorney Has Patriotic Motives in Bringing Back Victory to America.

(Special to the Daily Republican) Indianapolis, Ind., April 3.—The winning 1911 car, and the winning 1912 driver, Joe Dawson and his Marmon, have been entered in the next five hundred-mile race on the Indianapolis motor speedway by ly. Charles Erbstein, a Chicago attorney, with the patriotic motive of bringing back to America the laurels taken away last year by Goux, the Frenchman. In all around interest this combination promises to surpass anything nominated for the death at time of this issue. Hoosier event to date.

Before going into the proposition, Erbstein first assured himself of the factory's co-operation in getting his car in shape. This part of the deal having been agreed to, he felt himself justified in taking a plunge.

At present the machine is in the workships, where it will be given a thorough overhauling under Dawson's personal supervision. Its last appearance was at Elgin, little luck greeting it there, however, though it was still running at the finish. Prior to that it won fifth in the 1911 Indianapolis event, being deprived of a higher position by a flying tire bolt that punctured its radiator.

With everything ship shape, and several new speed wrinkles incorporated in its design, the machine will be fit for the battle of its life, it is thought. Dawson, famous as the man who beat DePalma in 1912, may be expected to get out of all it has to show. The entry of Dawson boosts the speedway entry list to twenty-one.

A fight to the finish for the speed championship of the world will be inaugurated in the next five-hundred-mile race on the Indianapolis motor speedway, when Jean Chassagne and Beb Burman, shown above to the right and left respectively, hook up to determine which is the better of the two. Chassagne is the admitted roi de vitesse of Europe, having securely clinched this title through recently completing 112 miles at Brooklands in an hour. Burman needs no further mention.

Better Wear Black Eye Than Black Shoes This Spring

BY MARGARET MASON (Written for United Press.)

The tootsies of the modern maid Have often in the past,

Because of too much tangoing, Been cased in plaster cast. But now they've cast the dust aside

Of plaster cast foot gear And as a model outcome they

In bronze each one appear.

New York, April 3.-Yea, verily; if lovely woman wants to put the best foot foremost this season she must see to it that it be shod in bronze. Though the idol of Fashion has clay feet, yet they are sure to be bronze coated. Indeed it were almost better to wear a black eye than a black shoe so if you want the stamp of sartorial approval you must do your own stamping in bronze boots,

One of the lovliest of the new bronze models is dubbed the Ostend. It has the Colonial tongue, but spurning the buckle, a neat little strap fastens it on one side with a button of cut steel or bronze. Of course this model is developed in black, white and gunmetal, of kid, sueed, or cloth, but it is when of bronze kid that it has reached its acme of perfection.

The elaborate strapping of the ango slipper is shown to advantage in the bronze kid and another pretty effect is a slipper with two straps crossing over the instep and fastening with jeweled buttons on each side. The debutante stills clings to the flat heeled pump and sandal but for her more seasoned sisters the higher the French heel the more it is their sole satisfaction.

Both white and bronze hued silk hose are smart with the bronze footwear and bright green, blue and violet are often worn with impunity and a matching costume. What boots it if your face be bronzed by the summer winds just so your feet are bronzed by the boots of the Mode. And after all what could be more fitting for your pedel extremities Isn't bronze a base metal?

Larger even than the checks of a orporation president are the checks of the coat suits now being much affected for smart street wear.

Wealth of Hair

Black and white is the favored combination and in both the huge checks and wide stripes this color contrast develops costumes that are startlingly chic and striking. It is with these toilettes of light and shade that the black shoe has its one inning. With a costume like this the black patent kid Ostend or Colonial pump is the really smart finish to a white silk stockinged foot.

The black and white striped silks are wonderfully good for the afternoon informal frocks and one lovely white silk crepe striped in red like a peppermint stick was the envied possession of a dark-haired belle at a recent Broadway theatrical opening. The skirt was simply draped, flaring out triangularly over the hips. The waist cut all in one piece opened down the front over a sheer vest of tulle while a fitted frill of the tulle piped in red outlined the low neck. A wide crush belt of jet trimmed black moire and a smart black hemp hat smacked up on one side to reveal the grey of powdered locks completed the ravishing ensemble. In words of the gallery she certainly looked the candy kid.

Children seem to be as much ruffled over the new fashions as their elders. Frocks for the five year old have tiers of ruffles about the hip line to give a bouffant silhouette just like Mama's. Quaint little short waisted dresses of Pompadour taffetas and brilliant hued Poiret silks have tiny pinked ruchings around the bottom of the skirts and an adorable little pleated flesh colored chiffon has smoched yoke and girdle of deeper rose while the skirt is cunningly hobbled with a band of the smocking.

For little lads the David Copperfield suits with their white waists collared and cuffed in colored linen to match the three quarter trousers which fasten high up on the waist with large white pearl buttons are most attractive. Sheer pleated white frills around the neck and sleeves in lieu of the collar and cuffs of colored linen are more dressy and turn a sturdy little American boy into a fac simile of the little Dauphin of

The long trousered white linen sailor suits still hold their own in spite of the David Copperfield, rival and in fact reign supreme in the heart of the small boy who rebells internally at the more picturesque attire wished on him by doting maternal parents and fickle fashion.

New Resident Pays Compliments to Local Merchants

A new resident of Rushville, whom we will call Smith, because that is not his name, just recently had occasion to have dealings with a number of Rushville concerns.

Smith built himself a house recently, and as he expresses it, "It is some house." He made a careful study of the local concerns, and below he tells of the people, from whom he bought.

"I walked into the Robbins-Nipp Insurance & Real Estate Office one day. They picked out a lot in one of your beautiful residence districts and I bought it at a surprisingly low price. They had no trouble in selling a fire insurance policy in one of the many strong companies that they represent. Robbins-Nipp Agency sell insurance that really insures.

The Case Lumber Yard gave me lowest prices on my lumber, and showed me that they had facilities for turning out the work that I wanted, with the result that they got my contract. Mr. Grindle handled

John S. Beale, our leading connothing in the way of medicine did and heating job. Mr. Beale has a equipment and facilities, I hand the blue ribbon to Mr. Beale.

I went to see Ed Crosby when I got ready for my painting and decorating. He took me out and allowed me to inspect some of his work, and v. c. Bodine now I am a Crosby booster. Quality and price considered, Crosby's work is the best I have ever seen.

I had my slating and tinning done by Walter Perkins, who has his office at Frazee's Lumber Yard. Mr. Perkins is an expert in his line, and I do not look for any trouble from PENCIL SCRATCH TABLETS-The leaking roofs. For his good work, 4x7, 100 sheets to pad, they will stall all of my electric fixtures. Mr. close out at 3 for 5c. or 7 for 10c. Mahin has had a number of years experience in the electric line, and he is an authority in that work. I left everything to him, to use his best judgment, and he installed fixtures which I am sure are the best made. All of my light globes are the famous Fostoria Mazdas.

I always buy good things when I buy, because I figure that they are the cheapest in the end. That is the reason I went to Fred A. Caldwell to purchase my house furnishings. Mr. Caldwell carries some splendid lines of furniture, and has as complete an assortment of designs as the average big town store.

In buying a piano, we decided we could get more satisfaction, and many pleasant hours with a Kimball Player-Piano than with any other. It brings to our home the highest type of music, and it combines all the beautiful features of tone, touch and artistic finish that characterize the Kimball Player-Piano. The Boxley Piano Co., are the Kimball factory representatives in Rushville and vicinity.

Mrs. Smith has one great hobby, and that is pretty chinaware and silverware, and Kennard's is where she gets just what she wants.

We could not have done better at Indianapolis. Kennard's also carry the largest line of watches, diamonds, jewelry in Rushville.

Mrs. Smith buys her nicknacks, toys, cups and saucers at Bell's Red Front store and Bazaar. Mr. Bell carries everything, so it is only natural that he gets the largest business. The Red Front Store carries as complete a line as the trust 5 and 10 cent stores.

We brought some of our carpets rugs, and curtains with us, and they were sadly in need of cleaning. We sent them to Ball & Bebout and they came back, looking like new. I believe that a number of housewives in Rushville are not aware of the fact that this concern thoroughly dry cleans house furnishings, besides the usual pressing and cleaning of cloth-

My own clothes I buy from Betker's. He carries the latest pattern any styles, and is our leading haberdasher. Betker is the local representative of Ed V. Price Co. Who's your tailor?

Our drug store supplies we get at the Penslar Drug Store, F. B. Johnson & Co. They have a most complete line of drugs, sundries and toilet articles.

For shoes, well, there is no place like Bodine's. Mr. Bodine handles Queen Quality, Keith's Konquerer, and Dr. Reed's cushion shoes.

GEO. W. DAVIS MOTOR CAR CO. Richmond, Indiana

"12th Year of Successful Manufacturing"

MOTOR CARS

DAVIS MOTOR CARS for the coming season cover a line so broad that most every individual requirement is represented. "DAVIS CARS" range from the choice of the most fastidious, in a Big Six-cylinder Car fitted with either five or six-passenger bodies, at the buyers option, to the Serviceable Small Car that bears the brunt of business usage, but still retains that distinctive refinement and individuality that suits it, also, for family use.

The "DAVIS" 6-50 for 1914

The "DAVIS" Six-50 for 1914 is equipped with the world famous Continental Motor, which, at a conservative rating, develops 50 Horse Power, and under test as much as 64 Horse Power. This motor is modern in every respect, having a long stroke, the new check balanced crank-shaft, silent chains, and many other features which bring it far above the average. The Continental superiority was proven to us in exhaustive tests, carried on over rugged mountains of Pennsylvania, the Gumbo districts of Illinois and Iowa, and the speedy boulevards of the larger eastern cities. Our agents in New York, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Boston, Washington, etc., are intensely enthusiastic over our "speed and power."

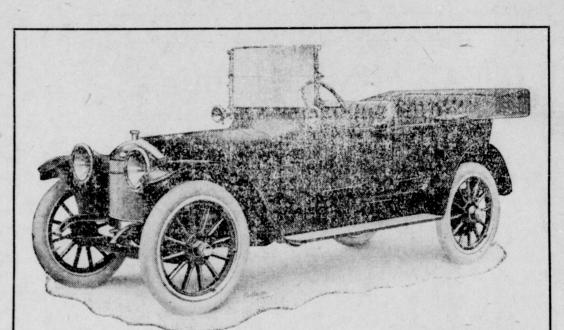

"12th Year of Successful Manufacturing"

In many ways we are harder to convince than the most particular patron, because our reputation and success is dependant on the performance of our product. The motor vehicle is likened to a chain, (no stronger than its weakest link) and therefore we see to it that "DAVIS" links are of the strongest.

The Warner transmission is built in perhaps the best equipped factory for the manufacture of transmissions in the country, and, with millions of capital behind them, they furnish a transmission that is hard to obtain elsewhere. Warner transmissions in "DAVIS" cars are equipped with important annular ball-bearings, and under all the tests that we have been able to devise the "gear box" has made itself a minor factor through its uncomplaining service.

"DAVIS" cars are also equipped with Weston-Mott axles, which are as good as can be purchased in any market, and together with the double annular ball-bearing, make a car that seems to glide intead of run. The bearings furnish so little friction that the car may be easily pushed forward or back by hand.

The Gray & Davis starting and lighting devices, Mea high tension magneto, Sheldon Springs, and in fact, all the Standard Material and parts that are used in the best motor practice will be found in the DELIGHTFUL DAVIS DESIGN.

"DAVIS" Six-50, Five passenger ___ $2,150.00 "DAVIS" Six-50, Six passenger ___ $2,185.00

The Next "DAVIS" in Size is the Powerful 4-50 A which has proven its worth in the past and will continue to do so. We feel safe in saying that this particular car did as much toward making "DAVIS" reputation as any other part of our institution.

In all important features the 405- A is similar to the 6-50; the motor, however, having four cylinders with a bore of $4\frac{1}{2}$ and a stroke of $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches. The motor develops an unsual amount of power at a medium speed and accelerates with such a dash and vim that it has surprised even the most experienced of the "Motor Wise." We offer the 4-50 A, fully equipped with either five, four or two passenger bodies at \$1.985.00

Model 35-J, Five passenger $1,335.00 Model 35-K, Two passenger Radster $1,335.00

Then the "DAVIS" 35 J

which is a small "four-eylinder" car and fitted with either five or two-passenger bodies at the same quotation.

The motor has a bore of $3\frac{1}{2}$ and a stroke of 5 inches which shows upon the face of it a guarantee for economy in operation.

Again the Weston-Mott axles are used and, together with many other features, this model offers the public a surprise when it is compared with other cars of similar price.

Under recent tests this motor developed 35.7 actual brake horse power, which, considering its small size, is a remarkable performance. In every respect this motor follows modern tendencies toward large dimensions and is designed to run at unusually high speeds.

The Westinghouse combination magneto and generator together with their starting device is only associated with cars of much higher price. The name "Westinghouse" alone is an adequate guarantee of satisfaction and service.

It will be noticed that the entire "DAVIS" line is made up of distinctively new and modern designs. Our own conservative taste is combined with the latest Stream-line practice abroad, making a line of cars that carry beauty and grace to the latest issue

Ask Rush County Owners About the "Davis" Cars

All prospective buyers of motor cars in Rush County should appreciate the opportunity that we offer them of buying their car of one of Richmond's oldest and most reliable manufacturers of motor cars.

A large number of these cars are running in Rush County and we should be greatly pleased to have you make inquiry of any owner of "DAVIS" cars.

There are many advantages to be considered in buying your car direct from the manufacturer—we are only a few hours drive from your door, which affords you many advantages in the way of being favored with our services which we extend to ail of our customers and users of our cars. We would be pleased to have any prospective buyer of a car visit our factory, let us get acquainted and show you our finished product as well as just how our various models are manufactured and let us lay our proposition before you, or, in the event it is not convenient for you to visit our factory if you will write us we will be pleased to mail you our illustrated catalog and have our factory salesman call upon you in a demonstrating car at your home and when you have had any one of these models demonstrated to you, you will readily appreciate the difference in the general appearance and the distinctive styles as well as the real value of a Continental motor equipped car.

"Quality Counts", is the "DAVIS" slogan, and it has been used by the manufacturers of "DAVIS" cars since our earliest models were being considered.

Out of an open market the Continental motor was adopted because of its years of experienced and consequent prestige. Continental quality is beyond denial and there is no longer any one so foolish as to offer objections to this or that feature about the Continental design.

It is interesting to know that Continental motors are all tested, before leaving the factory in a sound proof room, made of eight inch walls. It is the silent test under extreme working conditions, and the motor's work is carefully watched, and an accurate record is made by the "dynometer." No possible noise of operation can escape notice, so the motor must prove itself a perfect mechanism.

Silent motors are saving in power and upkeep. More:—silence is a guarantee against friction and it takes amazing exactness in machining, down to the one-ten-thousandth of an inch, to eliminate friction. This insures for the motor a long life of satisfactory service.

COUNTS"

Over 80,000 users are loud in their praise for Continental, and thousands more have been contracted for to be used in the coming season.

Listen to the next "DAVIS" you see and you will be surprised at the sweet-running motor, transmission and axle. In our axle you will hear none of the disagreeable hum and roar that are experienced in many other makes.

"DAVIS CARS" are clean cut and every provision is made to take up the wear that naturally comes into all cars. For this reason all annoying rattles and squeaks are eliminated and you may be sure of a smooth operating and noiseless car even after years of service.

We think it is only fair to every one that they may know and understand what our slogan "Quality Counts" means, when a new car is being considered.

If you will call and inspect our factory and car, we feel sure you will be interested in our 1914 models.
